Mochi

Traditional & Organic

Making EDEN Mochi is a multi-day process. Sweet brown rice is cooked, steamed, granite stone pounded, and allowed to firm up and harden for several days. It is then cut and vacuum wrapped.

The Kojima family began making brown rice mochi in 1974 when only white rice mochi remained.

EDEN Mochi is JAS certified organic sweet brown rice. Hot cooked rice is transformed by pounding into a sticky dough revered as Mochi, a quintessential celebratory food.

Sweet Brown Rice Cooked & Granite Stone Pounded.

Mochi has great value as breakfast, lunch, dinner, or as a snack. Preparation is easy and its use is only limited by the imagination.

No refrigeration is needed until after it is opened, when it should be used fairly soon.

Mochi softens and puffs into moist, chewy cakes with a crisp outer crust when baked or slow pan cooked. Pan cook it with or without oil, bake, broil, grill, or deep-fry until it puffs. Use mochi in soups and stews as dumplings. Very popular as a dessert and confectionery base.

Mochi is great by itself, with EDEN Shoyu soy sauce, wrapped in EDEN Nori sea vegetable, in miso soup, or made into chewy waffles. Add cooked mochi to finished soup or stew as dumplings.

Cooked mochi can also be dipped in hot malt or maple syrup and rolled in toasted, chopped nuts for pleasing mochi treats.
